

Dave Verburg

Dave has run a successful coaching & consulting business for over 7 years. Coaching people is one of his biggest passions, he helps business owners to structure their life in a way that drives both business & personal success. The creative way his mind works aligned with his supportively challenging manor and the business owners drive and commitment means success is inevitable.

John Haynes

Managing director of the international coaching academy, John has given talks all around the world which inspire and motivate people to step outside of their comfort zones. John has had many features on television, radio and in the newspapers.

Chris Dawson

Chris Dawson is Director of 6th Door Ltd, a forward thinking, contemporary sales training organisation that delivers innovative, proven, modern sales techniques to businesses across the UK.

After spending over twenty years in the sales arena and holding nearly every role from door to door canvassing through to National sales management and training for BT Chris has built a celebrated reputation for his comprehensive understanding of the psychology of influence, persuasion, relationship building and communication – along with his sick fascination with the art of cold calling!

Six years on from 6th Door's initial conception Chris trains and develops sales teams nationwide from sectors as diverse as advertising sales, beauty, manufacturing, food, print, recruitment, security, web based media and retail; driving bottom line results, long term relationships and repeat business. Also working closely with the Chambers of Commerce, Job centre Plus and teaching secondary school pupils the importance of communication skills in the modern world.
